News briefs

Medical specialists and the Government of Quebec have hammered out an agreement on fees paid to ophthalmologists treating macular degeneration with Lucentis. Specialists will receive a lump sum of $175 for each medical procedure, with the government adding on $115 more to purchase and use medical devices and equipment required for treatment. Starting on June 12, 2012, the injections will be performed in hospitals rather than in private ophthalmologist offices.

Randolf Rodenstock, member of the supervisory board of Rodenstock Group, will be in Calgary on June 21 and in Ottawa on June 23. The German entrepreneur will speak about the development and the future of the Canadian optical industry. Florian Zwink, an optical engineer from Rodenstock, will speak about the current state and future of digital technology. To attend these events, contact Janet Babic, at babic@rodenstock.ca or at 780-660-6930 (for Calgary), or Martin Bell, at mbell@rodenstock.ca or at 647-238-1390 (for Ottawa).

Three Canadians were among the winners of the 2011 Students of Vision scholarship from Transitions. Yusufali Pirmohamed, from Georgian College, was the winner in the Activity/Event category, and Avin Kishore and Jermi Santos, from Douglas College, were winners in the Multi-media category. Each student won a $1,000 scholarship. This year's entries had to demonstrate a multicultural theme.

REWARD YOUR PATIENTS AND YOURSELF THROUGH THE TRANSITIONS ONLINE REWARDS PROGRAM

By the time they pick up their eyewear, many consumers don't remember what lens features they purchased, reinforcing a need for eyecare professionals to spend extra time with their patients during this last step in the dispensing process. Through the Transitions Online Rewards Program (TORP), Transitions Optical makes it easy – and rewarding – for you to help your patients recognize the extra value they are receiving with their eyewear purchase.

By simply reviewing the benefits of their purchase at the time of pickup, and by encouraging your patients to register their Transitions® lenses using the Certificate of Authenticity (COA), you can assure them that they have received authentic Transitions lenses and a high-quality product. Plus, when patients register their lenses using your Transitions Location Identification Number (LIN) – either by mail or by visiting Transitions.com/RegisterMyLenses – they will be entered for a chance to win back the purchase of their glasses, or could win eyeglasses for life. Don't forget that with each registration, you will receive valuable points that you can redeem for prizes including gift cards, Transitions Optical-branded merchandise and point-of-sale materials for your office.

Visit Transitions.com/TORP to view the prizes available and to learn more. To start earning rewards, contact Transitions Optical Customer Service at 1 877 254-2950 or at customerservicecanada@transitions.com.

News from France

Frames made in France will now carry the “Origine France Garantie” label. Presented on May 19 to the National Assembly, this new label applies to all sectors of the French industry, including eyewear. It certifies that France is where the product was made (manufactured, assembled, etc.), and that at least half of its value added is the result of production activities in France.

In other news, French finance minister Christine Lagarde introduced the bill establishing a framework for the online sale of optical products. Customers who buy glasses on the Internet will be able to return them within seven days and obtain a refund or an exchange. As for contact lenses, suppliers will have to allow customers to obtain advice from a qualified optician and will have to obtain a prescription upon the initial delivery.

On an entirely different note, we have learned that Jacques Morel, the 3rd generation owner of the Morel Corporation and well known in the European industry, passed away May 21 at the age of 83. We send our condolences to the Morel family, particularly to his three children, Amélie, Jérôme and Francis, who are presently running the company.

New products and promotions

The Balance digital progressive lens, from Nikon, is now available in 10 mm corridor length. This lens reduces astigmatism and power error by using the Nikon Equi-View technology, which is applied to the back surface of the lens. The lens is available treated with Transitions in 1.50, 1.60, 1.67 and 1.74 indices, as well as with SeeCoat Plus, SeeCoat, HCC ICE and HCC coatings. Agreements and partnerships

Danica Patrick, the American pilot well known among IndyCar series racing fans, is the new face of William Rast, distributed by Viva International. This agreement coincides with the launch of the William Rast Eyewear line, which includes frames for women and men. Not only does the brand, founded by Justin Timberlake in 2005, have this lucrative endorsement, but the William Rast car, piloted by Dan Wheldon, also won the most recent edition of the prestigious Indy 500 race, which was celebrating its 100th anniversary.

Glare and halos bother people wearing glasses or contact lenses

The NSIGHT study, commissioned by Bausch + Lomb, showed that people who wear glasses or contact lenses often experience glare and halos, which are very bothersome to them. These problems are especially present in the evening or at night and are particularly associated with bright lights and headlights. Conducted by an independent research team, the study surveyed 3,800 subjects wearing glasses and contact lenses from China, Korea, Japan, France, Italy, the United Kingdom and the United States. F
